Rembrandt Drawing at a Window. Combination of etching, drypoint and burin (engraving tool). First state, Pierpont Morgan Library.

Landscape with Three Gabled Cottages Beside a Road. Etching and drypoint, dated 1650. Second state, Museum of Fine Arts, Boston.

Looking at Rembrandt's etchings is an inspiring experience. Not only are they remarkable individually. By also comparing them one with another it is possible to feel the excitement and wonder of watching some of the creative processes by which great works of art come into existence.

This year is the 300th anniversary of Rembrandt's death, and to mark the occasion a unique exhibition of his etchings has been arranged by the Museum of Fine Arts, Boston, and the Pierpont Morgan Library of New York. It will be seen at both these institutions. Some of the etchings from the exhibition are reproduced in this Picture Show page.

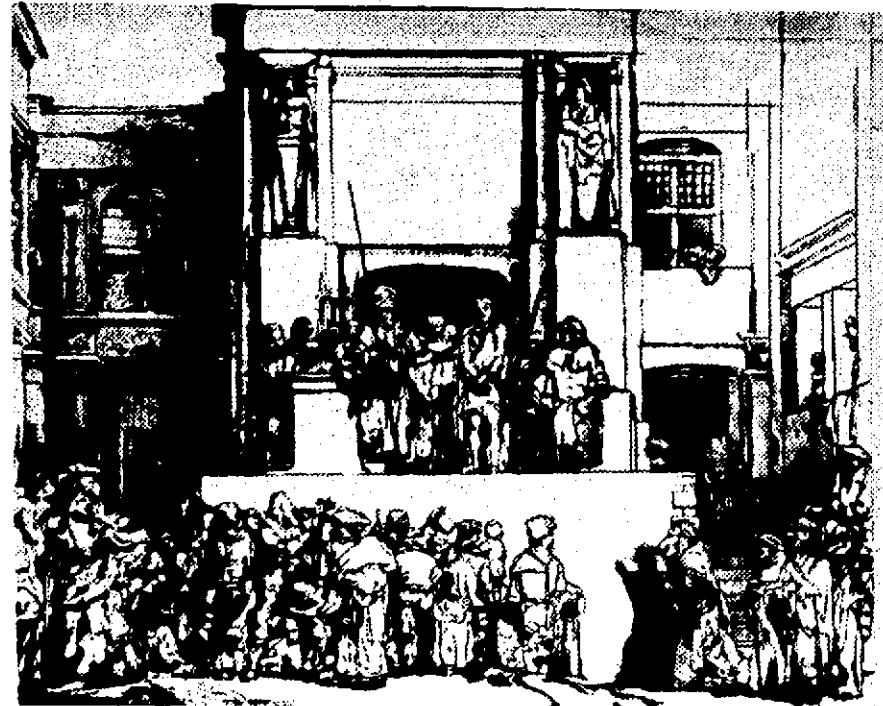

Rembrandt's fame as a master of painting overshadows for many people his singular achievements as an etcher. His own prints are as widely known and valued as any ever made. He was one of the most inventive printmakers of all time, and a restless experimenter.

For Rembrandt, printing was a continuous creative process. And by comparing successive impressions we can watch him change his mind. His ideas of what he wanted to say and how to achieve the effects he sought grew and developed as he worked with his plate. From one impression of a single subject to the next he experimented with the imaginative use of other techniques together with etching, particularly drypoint (scratching the copper plate directly with the etching needle rather than biting with acid). He also tried different ways of inking and wiping his plates, and the effects of using papers of various colors and textures.

The new American exhibition shows, all these details clearly. Series of impressions of the same subject are displayed side by side. In all there are 118 different impressions of 28 subjects. They demonstrate how Rembrandt's conception of his subject developed as he recognized problems and overcame them—although his own "final" satisfaction was an elusive thing.

The etchings on show are solely from American public and private collections, including the Museum of Fine Arts, the Pierpont Morgan Library (the largest and most comprehensive collection in the country), the Metropolitan Museum of Art, the Art Institute of Chicago, the National Gallery in Washington, the Fogg Museum of Harvard University, the Boston Public Library and the Library of Congress.

HELEN HELP US!

by Helen Bottel

THE COLLEGE CRISIS

Dear Helen: I want to go to college. I have the grades for it. I have even the money for it, or at least the will to work my way through. But I can't find an opening in a college I can afford. I'm not a genius, or an outstanding leader, or underprivileged. So there's no space for me. At our local State college, 1500 applicants were turned away this year. No room! It's this way all over the country, I hear. Average students who might benefit most from higher education are losing out because universities haven't expanded to meet the demand. By the time there's room for me, it will be too late. This goes for thousands of other high school and junior college graduates. For 12 or 14 years we have worked toward something which, through no fault of our own, is now out of reach.

Why didn't our country's planners foresee this crisis and build fast enough to avoid it?—NO ROOM AT THE "IN"

Dear No: Our country's WISE planners forewarned but, sadly enough, they couldn't persuade the taxpayers in time. The present crisis may be a powerful persuader, but unless money for additional professors and temporary buildings is appropriated right now, it will be too late for those thousands of hopefuls who can't wait two or three years to continue their education.—H.

Dear Helen: Horray for parents who make family life fun, even if uptight neighbors think outdoor water fights, etc. are just too-o-o undignified. I'm sure glad we don't have neighbors like the ones described by "Should We or Shouldn't We Change."

If my grandmother had listened to such people, she might be in a rocking chair by now. She has 13 children, 27 grandchildren, and a lake packed with enjoyment. She is pushing 60, but last year I saw her stand on her head and, what's more, it was on a soft chair which makes it all the harder.—FROM A FUN FAMILY.

Dear Helen: It's ridiculous! I mean how students in high school and junior high have to dress just so, while across the street at City College, the guys and gals even go barefooted and in cutoffs, if they want to.

We at high school aren't allowed any leeway. The girls have to wear dresses that are no shorter than five inches above the knee; they can't go barelegged and sandals are out. We can't wear long pants, culottes or berenudas, and if a bra shows through a blouse, it's into the vice principal's office with you! Boys must have their shirts tucked in and buttoned up to the neck, and their hair "off the neck."

But the minute we enroll at college, anything goes, from long frizzy hair (guys) to short pants (gals). The can be as grubby as they want, and who cares.

Isn't it dumb that high and junior high schools are so uptight with their rules while colleges in the same town are so relaxed.—CANT UNDERSTAND

Dear Can't: Perhaps it hasn't hit your school yet, but times are changing. Those super uptight hair-and-dress rules are being relaxed in many areas mainly because authorities began to realize how ridiculous they were. Kids are still expected to appear clean and respectable, but the spelled-out restrictions (even including "no pants for girls") are fast disappearing in a number of high schools across the country. And high time.—H.

P.S. Our local high school let the gals wear "winter slacks" last year. This year they may wear pants, shorts, pants dresses, minis—anything within reason. It takes just one breakthrough to get rules changed!—H.

FASHION IN THE NEWS

By ROSETTE HARGROVE
NEA Staff Correspondent

PARIS — (NEA) — If the Paris couturiers in their recent collections straddle the fence, showing a mixed bag of maxis and minis, they also brought out a number of accessories which will enable women with a modicum of imagination to acquire the 1970 look without throwing out last year's clothes.

For example, last year's coat or ensemble can take on a fresh look by the addition of a long, long scarf wound once around the neck. This can be in mink worked in contrasting stripes or in thick knitted, ribbed wool.

Chombert, the furrier, also reveled that old favorite, the fox scarf—in red, white and silver fox—using two long and bushy skins. Fur bonnets have accompanying squares tucked into a neckline for both chic and warmth. A touch of mink to collar and cuffs of a tweed coat gives it an air of restrained luxury.

As for the fur coat per se, the idea today is to contribute an air of nonchalance to any prestige pelt.

Michel Goma, for example, belts a white Saga mink coat and adds enormous pockets in knitted white vinyl.

Chombert showed "fun furs" for the young, usually in rabbit worked like mink and in psychedelic colors, bright red, yellow, electric blue, green, purple—the brighter the better.

Another gimmick endorsed by Paris is feather trimming—from ostrich to the barnyard hen. The addition of a fluttering ostrich hem to a short or long evening dress, a shawl or covering sleeves is a trick worth trying. The only rule—it should never look skimpy.

Saint Laurent added uncurled and lacquered ostrich feathers as a collar and cuffs to a black velvet evening suit while Nina Ricci edged a long black velvet wrapover evening sheath with luminous pink ostrich.

Hairdos offered many quick transformation ideas for those who like to experiment.

Dropout Enrolled In School Series

By DICK KLEINER
NEA Hollywood Correspondent

HOLLYWOOD (NEA)

An 18-year-old former Universal studio tour guide, John Hanson, will play Christine Jorgenson in Edward Small's film biography. This is one of the plum (or could it be peach?) roles Hollywood has to offer. Someone who has seen the script for this film thinks Small will have a big hit. If "The Hawaiians," the second movie to be made from James Michener's huge "Hawaii," is a hit, don't be surprised if the Mirisch Company makes a third film from it. They bought the entire novel, and "The Hawaiians" will be the second big feature. Strange situation for Carol Burnett. English television wants her show but, she says, the way the international monetary situation is and since the pound was devalued, "We'd lose money. We'd actually have to pay money, to be on in England."

Every year, television trots out one series which fails because it is too good. This year the sacrificial lamb may be ABC's Room 22. Let's hope it makes it, but if it doesn't, it is simply because it is too clever for the bulk of the public to appreciate.

One of its finest features is the fantastically lovely Denise Nicholas, who plays the school counselor in the series.

Quite a life she has had. From Detroit. As a child, she trotted after her big brother, through the back alleys of Detroit. A street child. Then, her parents were divorced and eventually her mother remarried. Her stepfather and his family were bookish people. She became interested in intellectual pursuits.

She went to the University of Michigan for a couple of years, then had a few years touring the South with the Free Southern Theater. That started in '64—she calls that "Freedom Summer"—and it was freedom for her. She never went back to college. Instead, New York.

She lived in Harlem. She used to run from the subway to her apartment. She became friendly with a lady who ran the neighborhood laundromat.

"Honey," the lady said, "you ought to carry a knife on these streets."

The lady showed her how she walked along. Her hand was always stuck in her purse, wrapped around a pair of surgical scissors.

Things are better now. Room 222 is better.

After that kind of life, she couldn't have done a series, she says, unless it had something to say. Room 222 does.

You know how some people always try to read deep meanings into things? Movies that are plain, simple stories are given great significance by the slick critics.

Robert Redford agrees with me that some of this is nonsense. He remembered an English professor he had at the University of Colorado, who was one of that type. He kept probing into things, deeper and deeper and sillier and sillier.

The class was reading a John Steinbeck short story called "Flight." Steinbeck mentioned shadows, the shadows of bandits on the rocks. The professor attributed great hidden meanings to these shadows, phrases like "an extension of his subconscious" and all that.

The argument got so hot and heavy that one student wrote to Steinbeck and asked him what he meant when he wrote about the shadows of bandits on the rocks. Back came Steinbeck's answer: "There were shadows of bandits on the rocks."

Notes on Needlework

By JOANNE SCHREIBER

Would you like to give the same kind of Christmas gifts the Beautiful People give each other? If so, brush up on your hand needlework and review your basic embroidery stitches. Some of America's most perfectly manicured fingers are busily stitching wall hangings, aprons, towels, linens, and even rugs for Christmas gifts.

There's a fascinating capsule history of embroidery in the new fall-and-winter issue of the Needlework Album, available exclusively to readers of this newspaper.

Originally, fine embroidery was a gentleman's pursuit, and titled ladies painted scenes of daily life in needlepoint and tapestries. In colonial America, needlework was an important part of a young girl's training, and many samplers of their stitches still exist. They made practical items, too, such as cross-stitching on canvas to make fabrics for chairs and benches. Of all the embroidery stitches now in use, the basic cross-stitch remains one of the simplest and most effective.

Religious portraits lend themselves exceptionally well to cross-stitch embroidery because of the delicate shading possible with this work. The new Needlework Album offers such subjects as Raphael's Madonna and Child, the Nativity, and charming framed prayers to hang over a child's bed.

A whole series of cross-stitch-on-gingham patterns is offered, too—quick-stitchery

Wise Precaution
If there is a deep-well pan in your kitchen range, it's a wise precaution to keep an inch of water in the bottom. That way there will be no danger of it being ruined if the burner is turned on by mistake.

Whip or Flakiness
If you use home-rendered lard for pie crust, whip it in an electric mixer first. Your crust will be lighter and flakier.

TOURISTS ARRIVING at Suva, capital of the Fiji Islands, a British colony, find that it is one of the world's greatest spots for skin diving.

By JIM CROSSLEY
Newspaper Enterprise Assn.

Where there's a reef there's good snorkeling. The reefs of the Fiji Islands rival Australia's Great Barrier in magnificence. That's why all the attention is being trained on this exotic island chain as a fascinating new location for skin-diving adventures. John Pennekamp Coral Reef State Park, three miles off Key Largo in Florida, has more than 108,000 divers visiting it each year. That's how popular an area with all the right elements can get. Pennekamp has shipwrecks to explore, sea gardens and lavish stands of coral. In contrast, a pioneering diver in the Fijis—far from such crowds—may be the first human to have laid eyes on any given underwater panorama. There is both snorkel diving and scuba at Pennekamp, of course. In the former the swimmer cruises along the surface with masked face in the water, breathing through a curved tube. Scuba diving (from Self-Contained Underwater Breathing Apparatus) makes Underwater photography for amateurs has been around as a hobby long enough for routine methods to have developed. Artificial lighting makes successful results surer. Any good camera can be used with a proper transparent plastic or aluminum housing. The appearance of the Nikonos II camera by Nikon was a breakthrough. A 35mm, the camera itself is watertight and can be used both in and out of water. Each year more outdoorsmen in Australia and New Zealand dunk happily in underwater sports. Rangiroa Atoll in French Polynesia is gaining a reputation as perfection for underwater photography. Because they are in one of the sunniest locations in the South Pacific and lie in crystal clear waters, the 300-odd islands making up the Fijis are being recognized as a 100,000-square-mile Eden of the sub-sea sports.

Get The Light From GOD'S LIGHTHOUSE GUIDE YOU TO HIS CHURCH

"LORD, HELP ME"

...she cried. But it was too late. A duty had been shirked... a responsibility neglected... a damage done. Grief is evident. She overlooked an opportunity and a life was lost. Life? What is it?
St. James said, "Life is a vapor that appears only for a little while." Every worthwhile life spends its self serving others. Every good life has a vital glow... it lends meaning to many little deeds that is determined by a few great decisions. Then don't procrastinate. Don't have to repent in anguish for neglecting
God, His church or a friend. Be a faithful church-goer, a dependable community citizen, and a booster of all good things.
Then, *whatsoever you ask in
His name shall be given.*

You In The Church
The Church In You
— form a combination for good. Every man, woman and child needs
the influence of the church. So, come let us go into the house of the Lord. Let us
support her program of service to humanity, be a faithful worker, a daily bible reader and attend services regularly.

TRUST
IN

If your church is to be a going concern, it must have church-going members. Sponsors listed below urge you to attend services this week.

HOPE NEWSPAPER HISTORY:
The 1929 consolidation joined the two principal newspaper lines dating back to within five years of Hope's incorporation in 1875.
1899 — Star of Hope founded as a weekly by Claude McCorkle; converted to an evening daily Jan. 1, 1920, by his son, Ed. McCorkle, publishing until the 1929 consolidation.
The opposition line:
1880 — Hope News founded by Lowry Brothers.
1883 — Sold to Withers & Johnson, name changed to Hope Telegraph.
1893 — Later in same year resold to Claude McCorkle and renamed Hope Mercury.
1894 — Sold to James H. Betts, who named it Hope Gazette, under which name it was published continuously until 1922, published by Betts, J.L. Tullis, and Col. W.W. Folsom the last-named dying in 1916.
1916 — Purkins & Gates bought the weekly Gazette and made it a companion paper to their new daily, Arkansas Evening Herald — but both papers suspended in 1922.
1926 — Plant was revived by Curtis Cannon as the weekly Hempstead County Review.
1927 — Cannon sold plant to D.A. Gean, who established the morning Hope Daily Press.
1929 — C. E. Palmer and A.H. Washburn consolidated The Star and the Press as Hope Star, with Palmer as president and Washburn secretary-treasurer.
1957 — Following Mr. Palmer's death Mrs. Palmer became president.
1969 — With Mrs. Palmer's retirement from Star Publishing Co. Washburn became 76 per cent owner and president — balance 24 per cent being held by Texarkana Newspapers, Inc.

The Reese-Dormer bidding of today's hand is very good. North responds only three spades to leave room for exploration. When South's next bid is diamonds, North raises to show the king and South goes to the grand slam.
West, determined not to look foolish, opened the ace of hearts. South ruffed, proceeded to play out three rounds of trumps, and eventually could only make 12 tricks. East hung on to all his diamonds and enough hearts to prevent the establishment of a heart in dummy.
West should really have opened a trump on the bidding. If it had, South would have gone down. As it was, the heart opening gave South a chance to reverse the dummy and make the hand by playing it upside down.
The dummy reversal play would also be a sure thing, provided the diamonds did not divide 7-0.
At trick two, South leads a diamond to dummy's king. Then he ruffs a second heart high. He gets back to dummy again by ruffing his nine of diamonds. He ruffs a third heart, leads a trump to dummy, ruffs a fourth heart high. This will leave him with one trump, since he has played one and ruffed four hearts. He will also be holding the ace-queen-jack of diamonds and his ace-jack of clubs.
Dummy will still have two trumps. He will lead a trump to dummy, discard his jack of clubs on dummy's last trump while West follows with his last trump. Then lead a small club to his ace, where his top diamonds will take the rest of the tricks.

YOUR DENTAL HEALTH
Most Partial Better Than Full Dentures
By WILLIAM LAWRENCE, D.D.S.

DEAR DR. LAWRENCE: My husband has 12 teeth left — six upper front teeth and six lower front ones. The others were removed over the years. He wants the rest of his teeth taken out and full dentures made. I don't think he ought to because his teeth look good. Can partial dentures be made instead of full dentures?—MRS. BOBBIE L.
ANSWER: If these teeth are cosmetically acceptable, and if they and their supporting tissues are healthy, they should NOT be extracted. Certainly not. Partial dentures in most cases are far superior to full dentures, being more stable and more efficient. Even though somewhat more expensive, they're worth it.
Faced with a choice many people reason, "—Aw heck. These few remaining teeth won't last long anyway. I might as well have them out and make full dentures now instead of later. It'll save time, and money, too."
This is faulty reasoning and far from the truth. Well-fitting partial dentures can function without any time limit. And while they last they'll serve you better than the best full dentures, with little or no change in your appearance and facial expressions.
DEAR DR. LAWRENCE: A dentist once told me to rinse my mouth with warm salt water every day. That was many years ago. I'm 82 now and still have most of my teeth. So many people have trouble with their teeth these days maybe this treatment would help them too.—MR. GEORGE V.
ANSWER: Warm salt water rinse is an old remedy and a useless one. Well, not completely useless. The water, if warm enough, may stimulate blood circulation in areas of contact. Also vigorous rinsing will carry away loose food debris.
Some people even brush their teeth with salt and claim great benefits from its use. Actually it's harmful. Salt is abrasive and can wear enamel and dentin.

However as my grandmother used to say, "if you brush your teeth with salt for 82 years you'll live long."

Bobcats Tear Up Magnolia by 21-0 Tally

By RALPH ROUNTON
Star Sports Writer

And so it was revenge. The aroused Hope Bobcats, with the best team performance of the year, crumpled the Magnolia Panthers 21-0 for a 4-AA victory last night at Hammond Stadium.

Hope had not even scored on Magnolia since 1964, but this time Artie Martin showed them the best running in these parts and even threw a touchdown pass on the side. But the Bobcat defense was unbelievable, stopping penetration after penetration by the Panther offense.

That gives the Cats a 6-2 mark for the season, while Magnolia dropped to 4-3 with their worst licking in several years. And the first Bobcat team of 1919 was on hand to celebrate, seeing as fine a high school game as can be played.

From the opening series the Hope defense asserted itself. With 3rd and four from their 42, Panther quarterback Billy Joe Daugherty was hit for a yard loss on an option series, forcing the punt which started Hope at its 24.

Two plays netted nothing. Then Ronnie Massanelli rolled right and threw on the run, and end David Still was there to gather it in at the Magnolia 40 and ramble down to the 24 to complete the 52-yard play.

A personal foul infraction against the Panthers gave Hope a first and goal eight yards from paydirt, and two plays later Massanelli lobbed a three-yard strike to senior end Lee Davis in the end zone for the score. Ronny Brown kicked the PAT, and the Cats led 7-0 with 6:46 left in the opening period.

Magnolia came back fighting, moving mainly on the running of workhorse fullback Wayne Miles. Starting from the Panther 33, Miles ran off consecutive gains of 4, 10, 8, 4, and 6 yards, setting up a 3rd and nine at the Hope 23 after Daugherty hit Gary Adams on a 14-yard pass.

On this third down, though, the Bobcat pursuit cornered Daugherty at the 38, where he flicked a desperation pass right to Ronny Brown, and the interception gave the Cats the ball at the Hope 27.

Artie Martin, who wound up with 192 yards rushing on 27 carries, broke 18 yards to the 45, before two gains by Massanelli made another first down at the Panther 44. Now Gary Jones took a pitch, broke two tackles and bulled 14 yards to the 30.

With 2nd and eight at the 28, Massanelli hit David Still over the middle at the Magnolia 13 for a first down. But here a penalty nullified Artie Martin's nine-yard sweep, and two losses dealt Massanelli set up a 3rd and 30 at the 33-yard stripe.

On the last play of the quarter, Massanelli pitched to Martin, who heaved a beautiful strike to flanker Roger Newton in the end zone. Newton made a beautiful catch with Panther James Erwin all over him, and with Brown's kick the Hope fans rejoiced with a 14-0 lead.

Two possessions later the Panthers drove down the field with two fourth-down gambles, and had a 2nd and goal at the three. Miles and Daugherty moved it to the one, but on fourth down the Bobcat defense rose up and belted the 210-pound Miles at the one.

That was the gist of the first half, which was owned by the offense in the first period and the defense in the second segment, all Hope.

To start the second half, the Cats gave Magnolia its best chance with a fumble at the Bobcat 28 which Panther Claude Wells covered. Once more the Hope defense held on downs, though creating a battle for position for the rest of the quarter. Whenever the Panthers appeared to start moving, things happened to support the contrary. Daugherty suffered four interceptions to the Cats' secondary, one in each quarter.

After the half Hope even began stopping Miles with the tackling of Jim Alford, Lynn Norton, Larry McWilliams, Ronny Brown, and the rest of the crew who will be mentioned on down.

Further, Artie Martin reestablished his confidence in the final two periods and in that time alone went over 150 yards on 19 carries. Enjoying some very consistent running success, the Cats celebrated by not passing a time in the whole second half.

On the fourth period's opening play Magnolia ran out of downs at the Hope 28, and the Bobcat offense pulled everything together for a massive push. Ten plays moved to the Magnolia three, but penalties and losses forced a 35-yard field goal attempt by Ronny Brown which was on line but dropped only inches short.

The Panthers were stopped and punted, so Hope simply blew them all out on a 12-play, 68-yard victory march. Most of the damage was done on a 25-yard blast by Artie Martin which carried to the eight, and on the following play he swept the right side for the tally.

Brown kicked it to 21-0 with 3:46 left to play, and last-ditch Magnolia drive was throttled when Bobcat Steve Harris intercepted at the Hope 30.

After Martin's 192 yards, Gary Jones got 26 on nine trips and Newton gained 23 more on five plays. Wayne Miles totaled 79 yards on 21 runs to lead Magnolia and tailback Robert Hasley went 7-19.

All the Hope defense was magnificent, and those not mentioned above are Sidney Waller (interception), Rusty Quilting, Randy Still, Ray Wheelington, Mike McQueen, Calvin Willis, and Steve Harris. The offensive line of Davis and David Still at ends; McQueen and Alford at tackles; Brown, McWilliams, and Willis playing the guards; and center Randy Wright worked the blocks for 241 yards and 21 first downs to improve those league-leading departments for the Cats.

It was the kind of game you like to see, because both teams were at their best and one (Hope) did the things it could do best at the right times and won it. And the faint-hearted 'experts' who favored Magnolia by two TD's are excused for their blunders, as the Panthers were rated 6th in the state in Class AA.

Next Friday, on Halloween night, the Hope Bobcats try to keep the dream going at Camden's Homecoming there in Coleman Stadium. The Panthers with a 6-0 win over Warren last night, are 6-2 for the season like Hope and should make for a quite interesting opponent.

But the corner is turned, and the Bobcats are coming.

DARTMOUTH IS STRONGER

HANOVER, N.H. (AP) — Coach Bob Blackman hopes to have an improved Dartmouth College football team this fall.

"We have more returning lettermen (29) than we've had since 1961," says Blackman, now in his 15th season with the Indians. The team had a 4-5 record last season and finished fifth in the Ivy League.

Vikings to Depend on Defense

By ED SCHUYLER JR.
Associated Press Sports Writer

The Minnesota Vikings, rolling behind a solid offense and a rugged defense, meet the battered Detroit Lions Sunday in an important National Football League game.

After being upset by the New York Giants on opening day, the Vikings have won four straight and lead Detroit and Green Bay by one game in their drive for a second straight Central Division championship.

Atlanta, 2-3, is at Green Bay; Washington, 3-1-1, at Pittsburgh; 1-4; St. Louis, 2-3, at Cleveland; 4-1; Los Angeles, 5-0 at Chicago; 0-5; San Francisco, 0-4-1, at Baltimore, 3-2, and New Orleans, 0-5, at Philadelphia, 1-4, Sunday. The Giants, 3-2, are at Dallas, 5-0 in a nationally televised game.

In the American Football League Sunday, Oakland is at San Diego, Boston at New York, Denver at Houston, Buffalo at Miami and Cincinnati at Kansas City.

The Vikings' defense, anchored by a tremendous front four, has allowed the fewest points, 55, and the fewest total yards, 1,016, in the NFL.

Compounding Detroit's problems are injuries. Top runner Mel Farr is sidelined by knee surgery; quarterback Bill Munson is out with a broken hand; wide receiver Bill Malinchak is doubtful because of a pulled hamstring and ace cornerback Lem Barney is hobbled by a charley horse.

Greg Landry started in place of Munson last Sunday and completed nine of 21 passes for 121 yards and one touchdown in 13-7 victory over Chicago.

Green Bay hopes to rebound from 34-21 loss to Los Angeles while Atlanta will be looking to make it two straight after beating San Francisco for second time this season, 21-7. Atlanta is without top middle linebacker Tommy Nobis, and Nobis' replacement, Don Hansen, is questionable because of a stretched right knee ligament.

Washington will count on the passing of Sonny Jurgensen, second in the league, and the NFL's sixth best running attack to beat Pittsburgh and put pressure on Capitol Division-leading Dallas. Kent Nix probably will start at quarterback for Pittsburgh in place of Dick Shiner, who has a bruised larynx.

Cleveland the Century Division leader, has running back Leroy Kelly back at full strength and rookie Ron Johnson, the league's third best rusher, plus the passing of Bill Nelsen. This should be enough to get by stumbling St. Louis, who probably will start Charley Johnson at quarterback.

Chicago, unable to get an offense going, now must face the rugged Los Angeles defense and try to stop the passing of Roman Gabriel and a solid running game. Los Angeles tops the Coastal Division.

Baltimore has beaten San Francisco 13 straight times and appears to be set to do it again.

Bing Devine Learned Well

BALTIMORE — (NEA) — When Frank Lane heard about the trade that sent Richie Allen and two others from Philadelphia to St. Louis for Curt Flood, Tim McCarver, Joe Hoerner and another player, a tingle rippled through his 70-year-old veins the way it would if he were standing up in a roller coaster swooping down. He still gets a kick out of a big trade.

In Baltimore, he reached rapidly for the telephone and rang up Bing Devine.

Oakland to Put Record on the Line

By SHEILA MORAN
Associated Press Sports Writer

Oakland, the only unbeaten team in the American Football League, puts its record on the line Sunday in a clash with the sizzling Chargers in San Diego.

Oakland, 5-0-1, is one-half game in front of Kansas City in the Western Division and San Diego, is right behind, winning four straight after two opening losses.

Raiders quarterback Darley Lamonica will be hard pressed to surpass his epic excursion against Buffalo last week. He threw a record six touchdown passes in the first half and would have equalled the pro record of seven in one game if rookie wide receiver Don Bule hadn't stepped out of bounds a couple of yards from the goal line after grabbing a pass in the last play in the half.

In other AFL games, Boston, 0-6, is at New York, 4-2; Cincinnati, 3-3, is at Kansas City, 5-1; Denver, 3-3, is at Houston, 3-3; and Buffalo, 2-4, is at Miami, 0-5-1.

In National Football League Sunday games, Los Angeles is at Chicago, San Francisco at Baltimore, Detroit at Minnesota, St. Louis at Cleveland, Atlanta at Green Bay, Washington at Pittsburgh, and New Orleans at Philadelphia. Dallas entertains the New York Giants Monday night.

The Chargers trailed the hapless Boston Patriots until the fourth quarter last week and won it 13-0 on a six-yard quarterback draw touchdown by John Hadl. Walt Sweeney, all-star guard, started growing a beard after the Chargers' first two losses and promised not to touch it until he reaches the Super Bowl.

The World Champion Jets are not underestimating Boston as they try to increase their lead over Houston in the Eastern Division. In the past three games, Boston has scored as many touchdowns as the Jets, and the Patriots lead the league with the fewest fumbles, 5. Boston also shut out Don Maynard in its earlier encounter with the Jets; the same Don Maynard who totaled 212 yards on seven catches in the winning effort against Houston Monday night.

The brash young Cincinnati Bengals have cooled off since winning their first three games, but the Chiefs won't be taking any chances. It was the Bengals who beat them 24-19 four weeks ago for the Chiefs' only loss in 12 games this season, exhibitions included.

The Broncos are looking for their first victory against Houston since 1966. Houston quarterback Pete Beathard broke a small blood vessel in his foot in the game against the Jets but is listed as a probable starter.

Miami spotted the Chiefs 17 points in the first half and made a game of it losing 17-10. Mercury Morris' accounting for nearly 200 yards in kick returns.

general manager of the Cardinals.

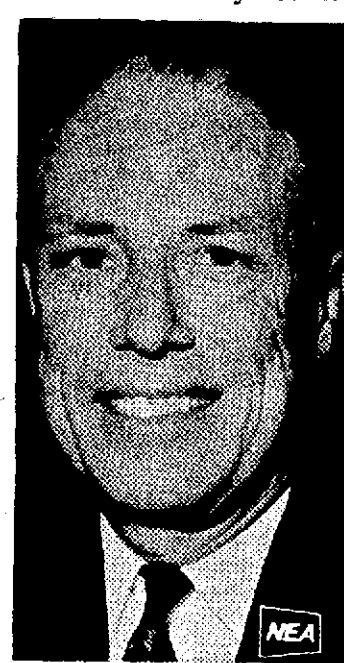

"Bing," said Lane in his quick, rasping voice, "you're the only one left with enough guts to make a big trade."

Lane now lugs around the title of Special Assistant to the Director of Player Personnel for the Baltimore Orioles. But in his salad days as general manager with the Indians, White Sox and Cardinals, he was such a shuffler of baseball flesh that he was feared by some rivals, respected by most and considered frenetic by all.

"I traded the Colavitos, the Kuenns and the Schoendienst," he says. He was also the instigator of the only trade for managers in history, dealing Joe Gordon to Detroit for Jimmy Dykes.

Lane had a special interest in the recent Cardinal-Phillie trade.

"Bing is my protegee," said Lane. "He was my assistant when I was general manager in St. Louis."

Bing Devine

Secondly, Devine traded for a player, Allen, who has struggled with uncommon dedication to earn a reputation in Philadelphia as a rogue in flannels. Lane had also dealt for such players.

"A guy gets tagged as a troublemaker, and it's pretty hard for him to shake it," said Lane. "But I talked with Bing a week before the trade. We discussed it then. I told him that getting Allen would be a calculated risk, but a worth-while one."

"Allen's one of the best hitters in the game. The ball explodes off his bat. The Cardinals needed the big bat. But I think Allen will have a helluva year—for at least year. He wants to prove that he can be a team player, and that the people in Philadelphia were wrong about him. Also, Red Schoendienst is the best type of manager for him. He'll let Allen alone. Red has never been accused of over-managing. He'll tell Allen to be at a team meeting place at a certain time, and Allen will adhere to it."

"Sometimes a guy gets a bad reputation, and everyone's afraid to take him. I remember I traded for Minnie Mino, and everyone said, oh no, this guy has had all kinds of run-ins. Mino turned out to be the sweetest guy you'd ever want to know."

"And I traded for Jim Rivera, who had been in prison. He worked out fine. I also got Junior Stephens and Ferris Fain; both of them were supposed to know their way pretty good around bars. I had no trouble with either."

Lane said that Philadelphia also benefited by getting McCarver ("still young, only 27, a good leader and will hit and throw well again if he loses that fat around his chest"). Flood, a fine centerfielder, and Hoerner, a strong reliever.

The question arose whether Flood would report to Philadelphia, since he said he'd retire rather than do that. (The odious feeling about Philadelphia transcends even Flood and Allen. On W. C. Fields' tombstone, the late comedian had ordered his epitaph to read: "On the whole, I'd rather be in Philadelphia.")

"Flood," said Lane, "is making $80,000 a year. He'd have to be a better painter than Rembrandt to give that up." And Lane laughed.

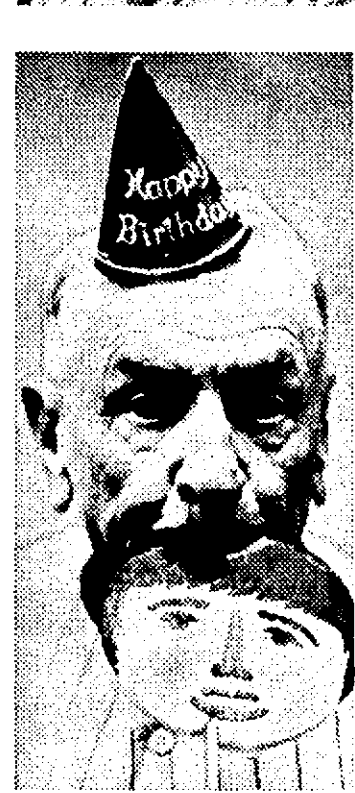

The reference was to Flood's avocation of painting. And Lane's one-liner sounds as if he had said it once, got a hearty response, and now throws it in whenever he gets the chance.

Lane was told that Rembrandt died broke. "Well," he said, "then maybe Flood is better." (Newspaper Enterprise Assn.)

Hardwick PBA's Answer to Namath, Trevino and Mets

By LEE MUELLER,
NEA Sports Writer

NEW YORK—(NEA)—Actually, it should be fairly obvious to everyone now. Just look at Joe Willie Namath. Look at Lee Trevino. And, oh yeah, look at the New York Mets:

The way to get ahead in sports is to be different; listen to the different drummer; wear weird-looking Chinese-inspired mustaches; hit golf balls with pop bottles; win a pennant at 100-1 odds.

Just look at Billy Hardwick, for instance, a 6-foot, 165-pound fellow with Namath's sleepy-sly eyes, Trevino's good humor and the Mets' propensity to win.

As the fall tour of the Professional Bowlers Association begins, in fact, Hardwick is the organization's leading money winner with $56,010. Champion of six tournaments, he needs only $11,366 more to establish a one-year PBA money record.

Not long ago, Hardwick won a bowling tournament called the Miller High Life Open in Milwaukee. As Dr. Charles Miller handed him a check for $10,000, Hardwick gave him a hurt look. "Don't I get a case of beer, too?" he asked and grinned.

Since he came out of San Mateo, Calif., and settled down in Louisville, Ky., Hardwick has approached life that way. In his 28 years, about the only thing he's lost sleep over has been a party.

"I do the best I can on the lanes," he says. "If that's not good enough, that's that. I leave the lanes where they are. When I'm not working, I like to stay happy. I do like to party, you know."

Hardwick, who should be pointed out, is married and father of two children. He does not party in the manner of Namath or even Don

Billy Hardwick

Glover, the PBA's bachelor playboy. He parties in the manner of Billy Hardwick, which is enough.

After the Firestone Tournament of Champions in Akron this year, for example, Hardwick could be seen performing rare deeds on the stage of a local nightclub. He was playing the trumpet, which he doesn't play. And he was singing, which he doesn't do, either.

"There's about four or five cities that really show bowlers a good time," he says. "The best is in Akron at the Tangiers. We just go down and take over the place."

Hardwick has his serious moments, of course. Almost a cinch to win his second Bowler of the Year title, he nevertheless had to overcome several trying periods on his way to becoming one of the nation's outstanding bowlers.

The first moment came after he joined the PBA tour in 1962 as a 20-year-old. Seventeen tournaments passed and Hardwick did not make a penny.

"I had been too cocky," he admits. "Too overconfident. They showed me, though. In fact, they showed me so much that I started copying fellows like Don Carter and Dick Weber. That nearly ruined me. Everybody has their own style and their's wasn't mine."

Hardwick went home broke. He worked to rebuild his own game, then scrambled around, selling shares in himself, and raised $3,000. He rejoined the tour, he says, "with metal blinders on—I wouldn't watch anyone," and won four tournaments, including the PBA Championship, and $33,265. At 21, he was Pro Bowler of the Year.

After winning $28,407 and $34,517 during the next two years, Hardwick fell into a dreadful slump, winning only $8,420 in 1966. Midway through the next year, however, he changed his grip, won at Kokomo, Ind., and wound up with $21,010.

"The slump was just a matter of lane finishes getting harder," he says. "I hadn't adjusted my game. I was throwing the ball too slow. Then I switched from using my first two fingers to grip the ball to my middle two and I won at Kokomo by 1,000 pins."

Hardwick has come a considerable distance since those days in California when, as a 16-year-old high school junior, he quit playing basketball ("I was only the sixth man, anyway") to become a $1.65-an-hour bowling lanes porter. He has learned, among other things, the value of exposure to himself and to his game.

Author of an instructional series for NEA, Hardwick has joined the AMF bowling staff.

The Peacock Revolution is upon us, the cosmetics people report: Men, real men, are buying lotions and creams and scents. It's probably a reaction to the dirtiness of the long-haired unwashed, as well as a sexual signal to women who have trouble distinguishing real males in this era of lengthening locks.

But word comes that the dirty ones, too, are buying male perfumes. This could be confusing. We don't know whether it's to attract women or to make themselves more bearable to themselves. All we know is that those of us who stand aloof from both revolutions are going to have more trouble than ever sorting out the sexes by scent. — Dallas (Tex.) Morning News

Transit Experiment Is A Flop

One of the nation's most interesting experiments with a luxury mass transit service is on the verge of becoming a flop. This is discouraging to those who had hoped such experiments would catch on.

For the past year there has been under way in Flint, Mich., an experiment which features air-conditioned buses that pick passengers up at their front doors and take them to work. While en route they get free coffee and doughnuts, stereophonic music, soft seats and the flattering attention of "bus bunnies" who seek to make them contented.

Passengers have reacted to this approach by staying away from the buses in droves, according to The Wall Street Journal. On many of their runs the luxury buses are virtually empty and are losing money at the rate of $200 a day each.

The trial run is expected to cost nearly $2 million, most of which came from the federal government. Transportation experts were eager to prove that commuters would forsake their cars for convenient and comfortable public transit.

What it appears to prove is that confirmed automobile addicts will find almost any excuse to drive to work in their own cars, unwilling to part with them for even the length of time it takes to drive to work and back. — Huntington (W. Va.) Herald-Dispatch

Let Parents Decide On Sex

With parents all over the country worrying about sex education in the public schools, they might do well to consider a bill recently signed into law by Gov. Reagan of California.

This law permits the schools to conduct classes in sex education but leaves it to the parents to decide whether their children attend such classes. Obviously there are some parents who are not qualified to instruct their children in matters of sex and they may prefer to have the school teachers do it.

On the other hand there are many parents who have done a pretty good job in teaching their children the basic facts of life and how to live in a modern society. They could probably continue doing this as well as the teachers. At least they should have the right to decide for themselves. — Orlando (Fla.) Sentinel

Monthly Trade Balance Year's Largest

WASHINGTON (AP) — The United States exported $270.9 million more in merchandise than it imported during September, resulting in the year's largest monthly trade balance, the Commerce Department reported today.

Exports during September totaled $3.33 billion while imports were $3.06 billion, the department reported, contrasted with exports of $3.39 billion and imports of $3.18 billion in August.

September's export total is the third highest on record, exceeded only by the August figure and the $3.36 billion recorded last April.

Effects on exports and imports of merchandise, is an important part of the balance of payments. It is consistently in surplus, but the surplus has been declining since about mid-1965, except for a six-month rise in 1967.

Two Killed in Collision Near Hope

Daylight Savings Time Ending

NEW YORK (AP) — Daylight Saving Time ends this year at 2 a.m. Sunday, when clocks should be turned back one hour.

The summer time system has been in effect since 2 a.m. on the last Sunday in April, when clocks were moved ahead an hour.

Under the Uniform Time Act, which became effective in 1967, all states, the District of Columbia and U.S. possessions must observe Daylight Saving Time beginning 2 a.m. on the last Sunday in April and ending at 2 a.m. on the last Sunday in October.

Any state may exempt itself from the law by legislative action.

Two young girls were killed early last night in a head-on collision on Highway 67 about nine miles west of Hope.

Toni Jo Tackett, 19, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Boyd Tackett of Texarkana and Denise Rogers, 19, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Busby of Hope, were dead on arrival at a local hospital.

Johnny Fricks, 20, of Ft. Smith, formerly of Hope, driver of the car in which the two girls were passengers was critically injured. He was still listed as critical in Hempstead Memorial hospital Saturday. All three were attending college in Arkadelphia and were enroute home.

Driver of the second car involved, Victor C. Drobek, 20, a soldier of Butler, Pa., was injured. His condition was pronounced as satisfactory in Hempstead Memorial Hospital Saturday morning.

According to State Patrolman Wallace Martin the Drobek car, a Plymouth Roadrunner, was attempting to pass two trucks. His car hit the Chevrolet, occupied by the students, head-on. One of the vehicles, officers were unable to determine which, sideswiped one of the trucks which was driven by Clinton Wright Sr. of Blytheville. He was not injured.

Miss Tackett's body was returned to Texarkana last night, Herndon Funeral Home reported. Her father is a widely known attorney and is head of a Texarkana law firm.

Oakcrest Funeral Home will announce arrangements for Miss Rogers. Her parents are both natives of Hope and she was the granddaughter of Mr. and Mrs. Kenneth Hamilton of Hope.

U.S., Russia Arms Talk Scheduled

By LEWIS GULICK
Associated Press Writer

WASHINGTON (AP) — The United States and the Soviet Union are expected to start long-awaited arms limitation talks late next month in Helsinki, Vienna or Geneva.

Informed sources said announcement of an agreement looking toward opening of the talks to limit the nuclear arms race was planned for today. They expected simultaneous announcements in Moscow and Washington.

President Nixon flew to his nearby Camp David, Md., mountain retreat late Friday without word on just when he would return.

Nixon gave the Soviets notice June 11 that the United States would be ready as of July 31 to begin the discussions aimed at restraining the expensive atomic arms competition between the two nations. He suggested Vienna or Geneva as sites for the talks, but left alternatives open. Communist sources had indicated they prefer Helsinki.

To the administration's disappointment, the Kremlin gave no answer to Nixon's bid during the summer. On Sept. 22, Soviet Foreign Minister Andrei A. Gromyko told U.S. Secretary of State William P. Rogers a Moscow response would be forthcoming "soon."

Then last Wednesday Soviet Ambassador Anatoly F. Dobrynin called on Rogers with what was described as a response to the Nixon offer.

When such disarmament talks do get going, the negotiators are expected to focus initially on possibilities for limiting multi-warhead missiles and antimissile defense systems.

Some senators have suggested the United States hold up development of both systems in anticipation an agreement could be reached in the forthcoming talks. But others argued it would tie the hands of the administration to formally halt development of the missile defense system or the deadly new rocket warheads.

The issue of multiple warhead missile tests is scheduled to be taken up Wednesday when the Senate Foreign Relations Committee holds a closed meeting with Rogers.

Solomon Was Strictly Right, Nothing Is New Under the Sun

By MARY ANITA LASETER
Star Feature Writer

When that biblical sage, King Solomon, said, "There is nothing new under the sun," he was absolutely right. It is the rediscovery of what has been hidden or dormant that comprises many revelations of each new generation. For instance, there is the bible itself. "Strange Facts about the Bible" by the Rev. Dr. Webb Garrison, issued by the Methodist Church's publishing house, Abington Press, is a collection of unusual sidelights on the scriptures.

While you are preparing for Halloween and collecting facts about cats—black, white, or Siamese—don't turn for help to the Holy Bible. Curiously, though it mentions nearly every general species of animal known, it never once mentions that common creature, the cat. This is even more unusual when we remember that cats have been abundant since the beginning of recorded history and were even linked with pagan worship in ancient Egypt.

Two subjects which most of us regard as modern innovations—UFO (unidentified flying objects) and mouth-to-mouth resuscitation—are not only mentioned but also described in the Old Testament. For the earliest recorded report of a UFO turn to the first chapter of Ezekiel.

The prophet describes a craft like wheel within a wheel occupied by creatures formed like men but with four faces, faces of a man, a lion, an ox and an eagle. The craft had 4 wheels with rims and spokes, and the rims were full of eyes round about. When the living creatures rose from the earth, the wheels rose.

If the writings of Ezekiel sounds like science-fiction, that of the prophet Elisha in 2 Kings 4:34 is more like modern medicine. Concerning mouth-to-mouth resuscitation which rescue experts have advocated as dramatically more effective than the old chest pressure system of artificial respiration, it seems that the new way is actually an old one because Elisha described the rescue of a child in this way:

"Then he went up and lay upon the child, putting his mouth upon his mouth, his eyes upon his eyes, and his hands upon his hands; and as he stretched himself upon him, the flesh of the child became warm."

"Strange Facts about the Bible" does not overlook women in that group of 66 books. It does point out that women must have always been a little touchy about the subject of age; for only one time was a definite age mentioned for a woman. It is recorded that Sarah lived to be 127. On the other hand, men's ages are regularly specified.

If anyone would like to delve into this book for more strange facts—and a few that aren't so strange—the reader will have to go outside of Hope. We have checked public and church libraries here, but the book could not be located. The information contained in this article was derived from a report by AP Religion Writer George W. Cornell.

The speaker suspended Swelg from his $36,000 a year job last week.

McCormack said Voloshen dropped into his office frequently to chat, out: "He never asked me to do anything." The speaker said he asked Voloshen to stay away from his office after the first stories on Voloshen's activities appeared in newspapers a few weeks ago.

Hope Doctor in Appeal for Osteopaths

LITTLE ROCK (AP) — Arkansas was urged today to give osteopaths the same practice privileges as medical doctors. Dr. James W. Branch of Hope, a licensed medical doctor, said it was past time for Arkansas to give osteopaths the same privileges that they enjoy in 46 other states and the District of Columbia.

Arkansas and three other states prohibit osteopaths from prescribing drugs or performing major or operative surgery unless they are also licensed medical doctors.

The appeal for a change in the state's 1903 law was made to the Arkansas Legislative Council, which was asked earlier this year by Rep. Herbert Rule III of Little Rock to study Arkansas' laws governing osteopathy.

Osteopathy places chief emphasis on the muscular and skeletal structure of the body.

Dr. Stanley Middlestadt, dean of the school of pharmacy of the University of Arkansas Medical Center, said that the academic training of osteopaths and medical doctors now are Branch said that no longer could osteopathy be labeled a cultist group. He noted that the House of Delegates of the American Medical Association had voted to admit osteopaths to the game.

Two Wanted for Burning of Churches

EL DORADO, Ark. (AP) — The Union County Sheriff's office said today one person has been arrested and warrants for two others have been issued in connection with the burning of two churches south of El Dorado Saturday night.

Willie Cook Jr., 19, of Minden, La., was arrested Thursday night in connection with the burning of two Baptist churches.

Authorities said warrants were issued for Billy Mason, 18, a student at Northeast Louisiana State College in Monroe, and Staff Sgt. Henry Black, 36, who is stationed at Barksdale Air Force Base in Shreveport, La. Union County authorities and the Louisiana Fire Marshal's office said Tuesday that arson was suspected in connection with the fires that destroyed the Good Hope Primitive Baptist Church, about one-half mile north of the state line on Arkansas 275, and the Springhill, La. Baptist Church.

Union County Deputy Prosecutor Earl Anthony said the three would be charged with arson and grave desecration.

Haynsworth, Nixon Talk

WASHINGTON (AP) — The White House, which ordinarily does not sponsor news conferences by members of Congress who see President Nixon, presented Sen. Hiram L. Fong, R-Hawaii, to newsmen today to pay tribute to Judge Clement F. Haynsworth Jr.

Fong, meeting reporters in the office of press secretary Ronald L. Ziegler, said he had sought an appointment with Nixon to discuss matters affecting his state.

McCormack Denies Any Wrongdoing

By JOHN BECKLER
Associated Press Writer

WASHINGTON (AP) — Speaker John W. McCormack emphatically denies he knew about or aided any influence peddling through his House office. And the 77-year-old Massachusetts Democrat—contrary to previous speculation—says he will seek not only another term as congressman but as speaker.

McCormack told newsmen Friday that Life magazine made an unwarranted and malicious attack on him in reporting the speaker had let his office and influence be used by a friend and a staff member to seek favors from government.

The charges obviously triggered McCormack's decision to run again, thus avoiding any appearance of his quitting under fire.

"My conscience is absolutely clear," McCormack said.

Until the activities of Nathan Voloshen, a long-time McCormack friend, and Martin Swelg, the speaker's chief aide, were publicized it had been widely believed among House Democrats that McCormack would retire at the end of the 90th Congress in December 1970.

He will be 79 then, with 43 years of service in the House. McCormack has come under growing criticism from younger Democrats, who felt he was out of touch with them and was failing to provide the leadership needed with the White House in Republican hands.

Now, it's a whole new ballgame, McCormack has the respect of most Democrats and if he makes his re-election as speaker the symbol of vindication from the charges being brought against his conduct of the office it will be hard for anyone to oppose him.

The Life story, released in advance of publication, said Voloshen had operated freely out of the speaker's office and even sat at McCormack's desk when he accepted a $5,000 cash payment from an Ohio physician fighting a tax evasion case. The magazine said McCormack was not present at the time, but "the evidence is that McCormack was more than naively involved in what whatever took place in his office."

McCormack denied Friday he had made calls himself or that he knew about any others. He said he had never even heard most of the names mentioned in the magazine article as subjects of the calls.

The speaker suspended Swelg from his $36,000 a year job last week.
